Excerpt: . . . speed, With tidings to Alice that he did live, To ease her of her dread. For, when the hapless Prince did fall, The arrow did not him slay; But his followers did bravely rescue him, And conveyd him safe away: Bravely they rescud that noble Prince, And to fair Carlisle him bore; And there that brave young Prince did live, Though wounded sad and sore. Fair Alice the wondrous tidings heard, And thrice, for joy, she sighd! That hapless fair, when she heard the news, She rose--she smild--and died. The tears that her fair maidens shed, Kan free from their bright eyes: The echoing wind, that then did blow, Was burdend with their sighs. The page he saw the lovely Alice In a deep grave let down; And at her head a green turf laid, And at her feet a stone! Then, with many...
